Developing and organizing state-of-the-art continuous medical education programs that meet the needs of the medical community at SSMC and in the region.

The Center of Continuous Medical Education was established in August 2021 with a goal to develop, monitor and promote excellence in continuous medical education (CME) programs, processes and strategies for medical and clinical professionals in practice, including medical students. The center's efforts also focus on establishing strong partnerships with international CME, educational and accreditation institutions.

Improving community health and education outcomes by championing best practices in continuous medical education.

We are dedicated to maintaining and improving standards, and mentoring and working collaboratively with stakeholders. We also maintain dialogue with CME accreditation authorities, regulatory bodies and other key stakeholders to facilitate collaboration in improving standards of CME services.

Encouraging creativity, innovation and best practices in continuous medical education.

The CME center at SSMC adjusts to the specific needs of each learner in order to obtain high-quality CME programs that reflect and extend his or her skills and interests.

What we provide

- Ensure that all CME programs meet accreditation requirements.
- Plan and organize continuous medical education programs, including assessment, opinion gathering and suggestions.
- Contribute to the creation, evaluation and monitoring of accreditation criteria and guidelines relating to the CME process and educational programs, as well as the adherence to CME policy.
- Evaluate and approve CME requests, as well as monitor the efficacy of implementation of CME programs.
- Manage day-to-day CME operations and processes.
- Grant accreditation for educational and training programs based on compliance with the Department of Health – Abu Dhabi accreditation standards.
- Work closely with the Department of Health (CME section), Mayo Clinic and international organizations to collaborate in developing the CME services.
- Provide guidance and day-to-day support to all health care professional related to CME registration and CME Certifications.
